

Practice What You Teach reflects the connection between being an artist and a teacher. As a visual learner, seeing an idea take shape has always been the most powerful way to connect with art. That belief guides my teaching through demonstration, exploration, and creating alongside my students.

The artwork showcased represents lessons, techniques, and creative processes modeled and shared in my classes in Winthrop and East Boston. Each piece serves as a visual example making concepts more accessible and meaningful for students.

A special thank you to Diane and Eva, who taught me the value of leading by example at a young age and helped inspire my love of art. I am truly humbled to have my artwork hanging alongside yours.
